DONALD McEINERNEY (Pileshire, N.Y.), having written his name at length in many places, had better get it straightened up before he goes back there; or otherwise, it is valid until you mutually understand him. We cannot undertake to answer political questions.

He would do much better if he were to say "the earth, he was justified in giving the batsman "not out," but if he says "out," what right has he to interfere with the handling, he shouldn't have given a contrary decision."

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 10, 1864

DONCASTER! There can be no doubt that the great meeting now before us on the eve of being consummated is second only in importance to the Epsom carnival. It may be said that the world Doncaster has even more to offer than Epsom, for if the Derby brings forth the great animals of the year, the St. Leger settles their position in the public estimation. We constantly hear of Derby fakes, but the world is drooping in reviewing the St. Leger. To assert that the tremendous northern prize was won by a fluke would be to urge a proposition which would be esteemed a sufficient guarantee for the sending of him who urged it to Colney Hatch for instant. The St. Leger is undoubtedly the crown of the year. Interest which arises on the Derby grows into a stronger excitement by the time the St. Leger has to be decided. The horses of the year have been tested, and drop into their proper positions, and there is generally a point to be decided on which popular opinion is divided and very nicely balanced. There are, in the majority of instances, two animals whose respective claims must be decided at Doncaster. The Two Thousand winner has been beaten in the Derby, and the Derby winner cut up badly in the Grand Prix, and Goodwood has upset the whole of the previous form. The Turf market gets into a state of fog, and there is nothing for it but that the sun of the St. Leger should shine upon it and disperse the chaos. This year will prove no less exciting than previous ones, for the claims of those two popular performers, General Peel and Blair Athol have to be settled. And, moreover, there is the matter of cut running of Ely and the great performance of the definitely established favorite, St. George, who has won the Derby of the greatest possible interest, and the excitement on Doncaster town night on Wednesday next, will be nothing short of terrific. We do not purpose having names to enter upon the respective merits of the animals, and we have no right to do so, but we have no objection to the subject which will receive due attention at the hands of the gentleman entrusted with the task of guiding the movements of those who follow up on these important events. Fortunately up to this moment there has been no serious cause of complaint or objections on the part of the public with the disreputable and uncompromising members of the fraternity of book makers and which so led the public astray last year in the case of Lord Clifden. True there are some suspicious rumours floating about respecting Mr. A. Ascho's coil, but these we may safely say will be answered by the mere creation of some disorders! Further, the spread of this world appears to be the creation of rumour and the impression of scandal likely to be detrimental to some interest or other. That Blair Athol is not a fluke is a fact, and the splendid impostor we have named is not a fluke. On the day he will be worthily rewarded. General we confidently expect. Yet these rumours make the public feel uncomfortable, and should the betting display any vagaries between this and Wednesday next something like a panic may be expected. There is one matter in connection with the coming great event which we trust to find definitely settled. It will be remembered that Lord GRASGOW accused ALBANY of disobeying orders when he was kept back within a few strides of home, he could have won at ease. It is certain that the horse was constantly in front, but the question is whether, after all, ALBANY did not ride with more judgment than he has credit for. It was deserved. The reputation of the jockey is at stake, and only the performance of the General in the St. Leger can possibly set the question of his conduct in the Derby at rest. There is nothing for it but to await the issue patiently. Meanwhile we refer our readers to our columns throughout the year argues well for our triumph on the momentous occasion, and we certainly await the issue with confidence. From Doncaster we hear nothing but satisfactory reports. On all sides great movements are being made to ensure a brilliant meeting, and that it will be a success is about as certain as the sun.

NOTES ON THE WEEK'S RACING

Tan length of our remarks on the great coming events precludes the possibility of any lengthened comments on the Warwick and Leicester running, which fortunately afforded little for remark. Referring to the Calendars of past races in by-gone years it is surprising to find no mention of the Warwick and Leicester races, which were the most popular and attractive handicaps. Compared with the meagre entry, however, it this year brought a very fair field to the post, ten starting for it, with Bradmanite the first favourite, as she had won only once before. The second favourite was the new arrival, a grey mare, owned by Beap, who, next to Bradmanite looked the best thing on paper. Practitioner was beaten a neck by Hawkshaw for the Shorts Handicap, but not on his merits, as he broke away twice, and ran a great deal of the race in the lead. The result of the race was a surprise to the public. The principal incident of the meeting was as usual the fluctuations in the St. Leger betting, which, as we predicted would be the case, introduced new favourites, and sent an old favourite, Claremont, to the right about. The favourite, however, was the new arrival, Tattersall's, came to 33 to 1. Brindisi, Beadle, Coast Guard, and Cambuscan were also supported; and on Monday, at Tattersall's, the well-bred Scarlet Runner was backed at 100 to 1. She is by Orlando out of Harriot (Cannon's), and she is a very good specimen of the breed. The race brought out some horses with which the English public are familiar. The "Grand Prix de Bades" was won by Vermont, Dollar, 2nd; and Fille de l'Air, 3rd; and as Dollar was giving 21lb. for the year, the result was not very surprising, as it was the usual case.

THE GREAT ST. LEGER.

In our last impression we entered into a preliminary discussion anent this important event, and as this is the last opportunity we shall have of addressing our readers on this topic, we shall go fully into the subject, but before proceeding to discuss the question at issue it is necessary that we give a list of

GENERAL PEEL.

[illegible]

THE SWALESCIFFE STUD.—Mr. Gulliver's mare Redemption, we are sorry to hear, has been destroyed, as it was found necessary to do so from the injuries she received during the late thunderstorm. Hopes were entertained that she would recover from the broken leg, but they proved futile, and the poor animal was shot. The loss is serious to Mr. Gulliver, as he was a few weeks since offered £1,400 for the mare. She was the dam of the yearling which was sold at auction last for 21*g*. Guinea, and her former progeny has made great prices.

OUR LETTER BOX.

(To the Editor of "The Illustrated Sporting News.")

Sir,—I hope you will allow me space to make a remark on the forthcoming international battle. Coburn, when leaving America, was presented with a most valuable belt, and I don't see why the lovers of Maco should not present him with a like trophy. There is time enough yet if you would be so good as to suggest it to his fanciers, or the readers of your valuable journal. If suggested in your next publication, I will be happy to forward my subscription, and as he (Maco) states that this "will" be his last battle, I hope that a good subscription list will be opened for him, that he may look upon it in his old age, and think of the days when he was young and his muscle in the right place.

Yours respectfully,
Belfast, 28 August, 1864. A LOVER OF FAIR PLAY.

WASP STINGS.

(To the Editor of "The Illustrated Sporting News.")

Sir,—I see from a paragraph that a Kent farmer died from the effects of a wasp sting. It cannot be too widely known that turpentine applied to the place where a wasp has stung will reduce the swelling immediately. If the sting be in the mouth or throat, some turpentine should be swallowed, and the effect produced will be almost instantaneous.—I am, dear sir, truly yours, J. PARKER, Barlboro', August 30, 1864.

WINDSOR GARRISON v. MOOR PARK.

This match was played on the lawn in front of the officers' house at the Cavalry Barracks, on Saturday last, in the presence of the officers' friends and a large assemblage of other nobility and gentry. There were several refreshing showers of rain, which passed over the lawn in the course of the afternoon, but which in no way interrupted the play. It will be seen by the result that this regiment has fully sustained its reputation of being the first regimental club in the army, as the scores of Lieutenant Arkwright, Captain Stephens, and Captain Stewart, 94 in the first innings, exceeded that of the Moor Park by two runs. TWENTY-TWO OF MARGATE v. UNITED ALL-ENGLAND.

This match commenced under the most auspicious circumstances. The day was beautifully fine, and the ground in as good order as the most devoted patrons of cricket could wish. When the wickets were pitched, T. Hearn and Grundy took possession of them, Messrs' Head and Nicholls having charge of the ball. The cautious Grundy was the first to yield, having slipped a catch from off of Nicholls into Head's hands. On his retirement for 4, 15 runs were on the score-sheet. Mortlock took his place, but came to grief for 3, when Griffith and Jupp severely joined Hearn, who was batting in good form. Griffith retired with the score at 42, and Jupp at 64. Carpenter now came to the wicket, and batted in his usual style, taking his bat out on that day for 33. On the following he added a single, then gave a chance, which was taken by Wynyard. The rest of the United did little, and the score closed for 160. The Twenty-two were not a very powerful team, and Mr. Mackenzie was the only player who scored double figures. Their innings gave 73 for the total, and they were therefore compelled to go in again against the runs, but they only succeeded in obtaining 83 runs, three of their number scoring double figures. Mortlock took no less than 16 wickets with his slaws. The match terminated on Saturday afternoon in favour of the United by one innings and eight runs. Score:—

THE LONDON SWIMMING CLUB ENTERED

TUESDAY last ushered in at the Metropolitan Baths, City Road, one of the greatest aquatic triumphs on record. As it was known that many of the best swimmers would be there, visitors were tended. The bath was crowded. Ever since from various parts of England got to a "standing start," This life was given by the fact satisfied if he only got to the water's edge. He had no other reason than the laudable object of encouraging the people to take notice of their native city; and as prizes, cash and medals were offered for the best swimmer, swimmers, bridge and boatmen, Johnson, (of Manchester), Carlisle, Donovan, J. Young, Regan, Moore (non-logged swimmers and floaters), Howson, Williams, Woodbridge and Harry Gurr, the champion of the "Silent Highway," who had been afloat for many days, were ready to back him next spring to swim any man in the world for the mile. The Romans are glad to see that by the united exertions of the above club people and amateurs, they have secured the necessity of the art, and at this contest we were pleased to find that the persons present. The Romans used to look upon a person who could not swim as a person of the utmost contempt, and yet in this maritime country it is astonishing how few persons can swim. They will soon cease staring them and say, "I have seen you swim." We have a few lessons to enable them to save themselves or others.

The next prize was an elegant gold necklace and locket (a sweetheart's prize) and the club determined to throw this open to public competition, and a finer body of swimmers, perhaps, never entered for a prize before, there being no limit as to the number of entries. The prize was won by a lady, and the club decided that the heats should be 10 lengths and the final 20. First losers, J. G. Lapham, and J. Jones (of Manchester); won by the former. Second heat, J. Jones, Egan, and Williams; won by the former. Third heat, Dawes, Williams, and Williams; won by the former. Fourth heat, Adams, Wilde, Dobell, and F. Jones; won by the former. The four winners were called together for the final heat, the excitement was intense, and the word being given they went well together; but it soon became known that Gurr had the race in hand, although Gadsby ran him a very good race, and Adams, being applauded for the plucky manner in which they swam. Gurr, thus winning the two great prizes of the evening.

The silver medal for third-class members of the London Swimming Club was won by S. Smith, beating G. Williamson by two feet; distance, four lengths.

The floating of Woodbridge (one leg), Moore (one leg), Howson, and Dean gave general satisfaction—they must be seen to be appreciated. H. Gurr was the duck—this never fails to create a deal of laughter. The evening terminated with the presentation of the prizes, and the Two-Mile Champion Cup being handed over to Gurr. Our swimming representative, Mr. A. Williamson, acted as manager and starter of the races.

GLASGOW

The final heats for the Silver Cup, value £5, presented by Mr.

Grand of the Britannia Mole Hall; and the Silver Medal, value £2 10s., presented by John Leggat, Esq., which it was impossible to undertake on Monday evening work, were finished on Thursday.

For the £5 Cup the competitors came in as follows:—James Reid, J.; James Spedden, Holyrood; J. Robert Hopton, J.

All the competitors came in within one yard of each other. The peculiar importance of this race lay in its being conducted with clothes on, including diving for objects, in illustration of the method of saving life in real emergencies. It was a beautiful race, and excited much admiration.

The race for the £2 10s. medal was completed for by the five winners of the £5 Cup.

The whole was concluded by a grand breakfast at the Hotel de Ville.

Councillor M'Farlane, who occupied the chair, and distributed the prizes, was complimented with a hearty vote of thanks.

The Royal Humane Society has awarded its bronze medal to Mr. Alfred R. S. Perkins, son of Mr. Samuel G. Perkins, surgeon, of Exeter, for gallant conduct in saving the life of a child who had fallen into the water.
